

WORKSHOP
November 8 & 9, 2014

Inspired Color & Funky Faux Canes

Inspired Color in Polymer Clay

Give your polymer clay expressions a boost! This workshop is for anyone who wants to use color in a new and unique way. With the help of photographs, collage, dry media, and polymer clay we will explore color relationships, dynamics and harmonies. Free your mind from color rules, embrace new possibilities and create a more inspired, personal palette. Then use your fresh ideas to create fabulous polymer clay objects and jewelry.

Polymer Clay – Faux Favorites

Polymer clay is known for its ability to approximate other natural materials. In this workshop, you will advance your clay vocabulary and skills while learning to make Faux ivory, turquoise, coral, jade, wood and stone. We will spend a day experimenting with each material, and then design a project using your favorite faux. Projects can include exotic necklaces or bead sets, jade bowl or small sculpted object, a covered frame or mirror. There will be an additional materials fee paid to the instructor.
